

PHOTO: HTCS

President Kovind inaugurates tech park

Leading Indian EPC company Angelique International Limited (AIL) has constructed the Royal Science and Technology Innovation Park at Swaziland. The President of India Ramnath Kovind and the Prime Minister of Swaziland, Barnabas Sibusiso Dlamini unveiled the park, recently.

The US$ 20 million (INR 130 crore) IT Park has been financed by the Government of India under bilateral co-operation. Speaking about the project, Rakesh Kumar Ahuja, executive vice president, AIL said, "The newly constructed

Ramnath Kovind, President of India and Barnabas Sibusiso Dlamini, PM of Swaziland unveiled the park

park comprises of education center – named Advanced School of IT (ASIT) which is running five courses under franchisee agreement with one of renowned IT education providers (APTECH). Facilities like conference rooms, video conferencing room, meeting rooms, cafeteria, gymnasium, recreation center are also provided in the park."

HTC